THE STORYBOARD

Jackie Estacado is a man torn by the curse of the Darkness attempting to consume him completely. He's the Don of a New York crime family by day, but by night he wields an ancient supernatural power of chaos and destruction. A new story has been created about Jackie's twisted journey, and we want to see how our artists envision it!

[PANEL A]

Wide interior of an abandoned subway stop under New York City. The entire landing area is flooded with overhead lights, burning even stronger than they would normally and destroying any trace of shadow, it's as if someone has sent a surge through the circuit. In the foreground we see Jackie Estacado, bearer of the Darkness, crouched behind a support pillar holding his signature twin-pistols. He's angry, but calm. The reason why is because there's a small army of the Brotherhood opening fire on Jackie with automatic rifles.

1 BROTHERHOOD LEADER: You're screwed, Estacado! Always leaping before looking, aren't you?

2 JACKIE: Yeah, I've never had much patience for sitting back and planning. Much more of a get my hands dirty kind of guy.

3 BROTHERHOOD LEADER: It's going to cost you this time. The Darkness won't help you here!

[PANEL B]

Pull back into the subway tunnel just past the subway station to show Jackie's darkling just about to rip out a ton of electrical wiring out of a big switchbox on the wall. The darkling is, of course, hidden in nearly complete darkness and we can see the battle continue in the background. Jackie dives from one pillar to another for more cover.

4 JACKIE: Not much for planning, but I've spent enough time down in the subway to know the lay of the land.

5 JACKIE: Funny thing about the Darkness, there's always some of it. Even the brightest light casts a shadow.

[PANEL C]

The darkling finishes what it started and all of the lights go completely out. In the center of this frame we get our epic hero shot as Jackie unleashes the pent up power of the Darkness. The two Demon Arms surge forward and tear apart Brotherhood members before they can even think about moving. Jackie doesn't miss a beat and unloads relentless vengeance with his pistols on other members. Maybe we even see the darkling riding one of the Brotherhood guys like a demented, demonic jockey.

6 BROTHERHOOD: Aaiieeee!!!
